

Curdworth Primary Newsletter Issue 14

News...Welcome Back!

It's been a wonderful start to the year. Children have settled back into school routine fantastically and have already shared the new learning they have begun:

Owls class have begun their new Science topic on Animals including Humans and have been grouping animals based on their features; Foxes class shared their revising of basic grammar and punctuation in their writing and their new science topic on forces, their task was to move a split pin without touching it!

Ava in Squirrels shared her precisely detailed diagram of how a waterfall is formed, teaching the whole school about undercutting; finally Hedgehogs have been learning about the Princess and the Pea and sharing their story map, recalling the story with actions.

It was great having the Children back. Have a great weekend.
