Nativity

This week, our Reception class delighted us with their very first play at Curdworth, performing not just once, but twice in front of an audience! The children worked hard to learn their lines, songs, and stage cues, all while wearing their wonderful Nativity costumes. Their enthusiasm and effort truly shone, making it a memorable performance for everyone involved. We are so proud of their incredible teamwork and courage on stage! ❤️

Parking

A direct note informing parents/carers to NOT park on the corner of Sandpits Close as it obstructs visibility and puts children at risk when crossing the road.

Children were put in danger this week and the school have received a number of complaints from other parents.

Pupil Shoutout!

This month, one lucky pupil, Teddy G, had the exciting opportunity to be one of the mascots for the Juventus vs. Villa game, walking out alongside the teams onto the field, and even got the bonus of meeting all the Villa players in the tunnel, despite being part of the opposing team's entrance!

autism

“Tessa is the best trainer and deliverer on the subject of Autism I have ever come across. She is engaging, real and raw, based on her own lived experience but also provides tools and advice for loving and supporting children well. Her session is a must if you are feeling like you need support and guidance” - Hannah Simnett - Cherished CEO

A special evening exploring autism and how we can better connect and support autistic children. Whether you're a parent, a professional, or simply someone seeking a deeper understanding, this workshop is designed to provide practical insights and tools to strengthen relationships and communication.

Tessa Morton Co-founder of Act for Autism will be introducing you to The 3C Pathway—a relational approach created by Act for Autism. This framework, as featured in the book Connecting and Communicating with Your Autistic Child, emphasises three essential steps: Connect, Calm, and Communicate. These steps are designed to help you create meaningful connections, build trust, and foster growth in everyday interactions with autistic children.

Act for Autism, an award-winning organisation recognised by the National Autistic Society, has been at the forefront of championing a relational and empathetic approach to autism. Through its work, it has empowered countless families and professionals with tools to support and celebrate neurodiversity.
